TROUBLES OF THE MAN WITH A NEW AUTO

Ye Editor of Ye News Finds Difficulty Assimilating Buz Wagon With Pencil and The Paste Pot

Some people are wondering why editor C. L. Schuck of the News is having so much trouble to keep that little white automobile in a direct course in the street and at the same time keep watching for dogs, cut glass, telegraph poles, and other obstructions. Possibly it can be explained to some extent in this way. The newspaper editor must have his powers of mental concentration developed very keenly. When he gets an idea he must follow it, reasoning logically and independently all along the line. In other words he must shut out from his minds eye all thoughts of other things which are likely to creep in while he is preparing his editorial copy. In this way his eye is trained to see but one thing at a time and he must think of only one thing at a time.

Mr. Schuck of course has trained himself in his sanctum shutting out things that try to flood in and divert his mind from ideas which he wishes to develop. When he gets in his little white buzz wagon he finds guiding it through the streets and lanes so much different from the work he has been accustomed to that it is rather puzzling He looks at the steering gear and turns on the gas and soon the momentum of the car is up to an exhilerating notch, when suddenly a dog walks across the street and Mr. Schuck must remove his hand from the wheel to blow the horn and by the time his foot is on the brake and the car slowed down the dog has stepped off the track and the confusion is all for nothing.

But he likes the sport of running a car, "it seems so different from the every day grind of the prosaic life." Mr. Schuck has only been driving a car a week but he has already discovered that if everybody and everything would lookout for vehicles, and there were not so many telegraph poles and the curb was set back a little, running a car would be some sport and just the thing for an editor.

In the present term of criminal court in this county two first degrees or murder have been found.

LUTHERANS DEFEATED BY THE CHRISTIANS

In a game devoid of any sensational features the Lutherans defeated the Christians last evening in the contest postponed from May 16. Both Bolig and Bowers kept the hits well scattered, the former allowing 3 bingles for a total of 5 bases and the latter 4 for a total of 9 bases. Manown's hitting was the feature he having two triples and being hit by the pitcher out of the three times he went to the plate.

Manown tripled in the first and scored on an infield out. In the fourth Vaughn reached first when W. Stahl allowed his drive to get through. Menefee walked and Bolig dropped a "texas leaguer" back of third, filling the bases. Vaughn scored on a passed ball but the side was retired before any more runs could be scored. In the final round Manown was hit, McLaughlin sacrificed him to second and he scored on Vaughn's two baser to right. Vaughn scored on Henderson's muff of what should have been an easy out. The game this evening will be between the Baptist and the Methodists.

TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM NOW NEARING COMPLETION

Elegant New Home Near Cresson, Where The Afflicted May Regain Health Will Surpass That of Mount Alto

The contract for the last of the buildings at the Cresson State Tuberculosis Sanatorium has been awarded to the Altoona Concrete Construction and Supply Company. This includes twenty cottages, two bath houses, four pavilions and the stable. The amount of the contract price is $61,975.00. The next lowest bidder was Steinbach and Son, who bid $71,792.00.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, made an inspection last week of the buildings already erected and expressed himself as well pleased with the progress which has been made. Dr. Dixon expects to duplicate in this new institution, the excellent results which have been obtained at the State South Mountain Sanatorium at Mont Alto.

The new institution will probably be turned over to the State late in the summer and it is expected that everything will be in readiness to receive patients about the middle of September. The main structures include an administration, dining room and ward buildings. The cottages for which this contract has just been let, will bring the capacity of the Sanatorium up to three hundred and twenty beds. This eventually will be increased by the construction of additional ward buildings. Provision has been made in the plans for three more of these When they are completed the bed capacity at Cresson will be practically the same as that of Mont Alto, one thousand.

The altitude of Cresson is 2,550 which will make it the highes inhabited point in the State. This elevation and distance from the railroads and factories insure the purity of the air which is so essential to the satisfactory treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.

The tract of land on which this Sanatorium stands comprises five hundred acres which was donated to the State for this purpose by Andrew Carnegie. He originaly purchased it for a country seat and on the very point which he had chosen for the erection of his castle. Dr. Dixon has located the State's new home for it's poor consumptives.

BUBBLE CLUB AT DONORA

The Monessen Bubble Club was entertained last night by Miss Marie Watson at her home in Donora. About fifteen young ladies were there and the evening was very pleasantly spent, Miss Watson being perfectly at home in the role of entertainer. The usual social season along with innocent pastimes were indulged and followed by a charming little luncheon with ices and ice cream and all present spent a most delightful few hours. The joyous young company returned home at eleven o'clock.

Among the passengers on the early morning train to attend the festivities today in the city were M. E. Griffith, R. W. Anderson, George Hoffman, George Kline and James Bumbaugh.

HE'S MARING THE DIRT FLY

City Engineer A. W. Johns, makes the dirt fly. He does not believe in filth and mire spread over the streets. Today the down town paved streets are getting a bath. Before the flushing was started, the dirt was removed and when the hose passed along the job was finished. Little complaint has been heard about dirty streets of late for Mr. Johns and his able assistant, Mr. J. H. Farquhar have been giving this department special attention.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wagoner have left for Brady's Lake, where the family expect to locate during the summer. Mr. Wagoner will return to his duties at the Pittsburgh Steel in a few days.

LAST SAD RITES OVER LITTLE JIMMIE KING

The funeral of John James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmont P. King, took place today. The services were conducted at 11 o'clock at the family home on Reed avenue. Rev. MacDonald preached a touching sermon and referred to the double sorrow; sorrow in the King family on account of the loss of a loved one, and sorrow in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker as a result of the sad accident. Mrs. Baker, mother of the lad who playfully fired the fatal shot is deeply grieved—equally so with the family of the unfortunate boy. Beautiful floral offerings adorned the room in which the little corpse lay. Tnese were tendered by those employed with Mr. King in the Pittsburgh Steel mill, societies, friends and neighbors of the sorrowing family. The remains were taken to Braddock on the 12:52 train for interment in the family lot in the Monongahela cemetery. Six brothers of Mrs. King acted as pallbearers. Many friends and neighbors accompanied the remains to its last resting place.

ENTERTAINMENT PLEASING

The elocutionary entertainment at the Christian church last night was well attended and the receipts were very gratifying. The entertainers, the Misses Ione Sutton and Edna Schaaf graduates of the King School of Oratory, Pittsburgh, were most pleasing in their impersonations, recitatons, etc., and all who heard them were delighted and gratified at being given an evening of such pure wholesome entertainment.

TROUBLES USUALLY FOLLOW CARNIVAL

Kittanning Has the Experiences of Moneseen and Other Valley Towns With the Bewitching Things

Kittanning people are all "het" up over the aftermath of a carnival held under the auspices of the volunteer firemen of that town so says the Charlerol Mail: The carnival proper was "clean" enough—under the supervision of the authorities, but a little side issue that was pulled off is what has stirred up the good people of Armstrong's county capital. It seems that with the carnival company was a very bewitching individual known as the "Princess Sultana." In towns like Kittanning, where the carnival shows are guaranteed to "come clean," the Princess had very little to do, but when the carnival held forth in places like Wireton, Monessen's wild and woolly suberb, she was usually the chief attraction to audiences composed of "men only."

Now Kittanning, like every other community has some dead game sports who did not like to see the Princess Sultana waste her possibilities on the desert air, so a company of young bucks Saturday night after the carnival closed, arranged a dinner something on the Seeley order, in a hall they engaged for the occasion, at which the Princess was the guest of honor. Not only was she that, but she is said to have been the only "lady" present.

Well, what was done at the dinner was a plenty. In fact it is not prudent to go too much into details. Suffice it to say the Seeley "doings" in New York in which "Little Egypt" figured, were duplicated and the Princess Sultana is said to have executed the Salome on the table amid the dishes, clothed in her beads and a smile. In the company is said to have been the sons and husbands of some of the socially elect, and that served to make matters worse.

The matter was "investigated," and four members of one of the hose

Whether fraternal societies and clubs have a constitutional or legal right to sell liquors is one of the leading questions before the courts of Washington county and Judge McIlvaine will pass upon this question early in June after the argument in criminal court.

The country is just experiencing a re-adjustment of some matters pertaining to the liquor question and there is no doubt but what the illegal dispensing of intoxicating drink must be abandoned. It matters little whether it is sold in the name of a lodge, a club or a fraternal society, even that cloak can no longer conceal the evil of the crime.

This issue is now before the courts of Westmoreland county and several convictions of stewards are matters of record and sentence followed. In Washington county there is a similar warfare and Gus Rigert, a steward in the Marianna lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, charged with selling liquor without a license, is the defendant in an alleged liquor suit. He agreed to enter a plea of nolle contendere, which was acceptable to District Attorney R. G. Miller. Upon his plea he will set forth all the facts bearing upon the case, the charter and by-laws of the lodge for which he acted as steward, a description of the quarters occupied by the lodge, the manner in which liquor was dispensed and to whom, whether to members alone or to members of other lodges of the same kind in other places, etc.

In this case it is admitted that liquors were dispensed to members of the Moose at Marianna and to members of the Moose from other places. In the case of the commonwealth against Louis Alberti and Henry Koucha, charged with selling liquor in the Owls club at Avella, a plea of nolle contendere has been entered and action will be taken similar to that in the Marianna Moose case.

Upon the question of law, whether or not these fraternal and beneficial organizations have right to dispense liquors to their members the arguments will be made and an opinion handed down by Judge McIlvaine. Arguments will be made at the regular time for argument court in June.

"Expansion" should be the forward word with this town. It should be the leading issue in the council and also in the board of trade. We should incorporate the territory that rightfully belongs within the corporate limits and by so doing provide places for homes for the many families that want to come here to live. There is plenty outlying ground. If taken in, sewered, lighted and a paved street provided to the new limits the town would grow surprisingly in a few years. The energy and effort should be directed to expansion for the next few months.

It is charged against William Flinn that he spent $40,000 in Allegheny county to elect his slate. How much money was contributed from outside sources is not known. But from this report it can be plainly seen that it costs money to have "the people rule."

The fellow who utilizes his back lot for a garden or poultry farm is just a little bit ahead of the fellow at the end of the year, who permits his to grow weeds.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil."

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes, it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS ALLOWED SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN FOR THESE LONG SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna."

This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is conceded by Christians everywhere to be the most helpful.

If Christians allow the rush and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food, they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually leaner day by day, and if the peace of God gives place in their hearts to the discontent which is growing in the world, notwithstanding the multiplication of our comforts and privileges

Daily Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the little tithe of time daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.

Your Friends' Birth Dates.

An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.

Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

The Mononaghela Times of Monday said: "Mrs. M. J. Cramer of Monessen was a guest yesterday of Mrs. Mae Jones."—"Misses Barbara Monniger and Irma Voelker were Monessen visitors yesterday."

Four negroes are under arrest at Canonsburg for the brutal murder of William Romancavitch, a miner, whose body was found Monday morning lying under a tree between his home and the mine where he worked, with his head crushed to an unrecognizable mass and stripped of clothing. The murderers got about ten dollars, as is thought.

A fairly good crowd was present last evening at the Markle boat show and witnessed a first class production. The vaudeville acts offered by the company being without doubt the best that haye ever been here. Prof. Carlos and his dog and pony troupe, the Nutty McNutts and the Five Laydns were the bill in addition to a musical comedy, "The Missing Miss."

At the hearing last night before Squire A. N. Shuster wherein Mell Eaglen was charged with non-support and surety of the peace by his wife was without much of the sensational variety. It was not necessary for Mrs. Eaglen to present her case. Eaglen plead guilty to the charge and was placed under bond of $500.00. At the time of this writing he had not obtained bond and was still in jail.

In Peril

"Get out!" said Brill emphatically, but in a restrained voice.

He had no wish to call attention to the fact that he was abnormally afraid of dogs. And this was such a little dog! But Brill's fear was not commensurate with the size of the beast. It was the fact that it was a dog that caused his flesh to creep and his spinal column to tingle. Especially did he hate a dog that tagged at his heels, as this one was doing.

He had started out for a walk in the early evening while it was still light and was enjoying his cigar immensely until he discovered his attendant. It made the situation worse that the animal did not growl or snap or bark or yelp, but just trotted along with his nose down in a business-like manner that was both mysterious and terrifying in its latent possibilities.

"Get out!" murmured Brill a second time and gave a kick toward the rear. But the animal did not even halt

It was one of those fuzzy white dogs so designed architecturally that the unsophisticated observer could never be sure which end was head Brill had the advantage of knowing that the dog's head was next Brill's calves, since nothing short of a circus dog could have run along backward so easily. It was the fact that he was quite sure which end was the dog's head that especially disturbed him.

Brill walked faster and so did the dog. Once it made a detour to the edge of the sidewalk, where it sniffed the air. Brill started to heave a sigh of relief, but the fuzzy dog rushed back to his heels apologetically, as though to assure him that it had no thought of deserting its post. Brill's blood curdled and he turned around.

"Shoo!" he cried, waving his hands violently. "Get out! Go away! I don't want you!" Then he resumed his walk.

Having gone six paces, he looked carefully over one shoulder and saw that the dog was still coming It was then that he almost broke into a run, for he had decided that this strangely silent animal must indeed be mad and was merely prolonging his agony before it finally bit him.

He resolved to appeal to the first policeman he saw. It was a small dog to be shot by a big policeman, but if people persisted in allowing their ferocious animals to infest the streets and there terrify pedestrians they must abide by the consequences

It was the beast's steady, silent persistence which convinced Brill that he was in a highly perilous situation. The perspiration began to bead his face and he breathed hard. There was no policeman in sight. He passed a woman and a little girl, but even in his agitation he could not bring himself to appeal to a woman for protection. He supposed that almost any man would have looked at the dog and grinned if he did not happen to have the same dislike for dogs which afflicted Brill. He knew now precisely how a woman felt in the presence of a mouse and he resolved that never again would he jeer at a woman in such a situation.

Brill had gone two blocks with the terror at his heels and he felt that he had gone a mile. Unable to stand it any longer, he whirled about.

"You miserable little beast!" he cried. "I'd like to choke you! Get out!"

He did not notice the pretty young woman who crossed over from the opposite sidewalk when he began threatening the dog. With a little rush she grabbed up the bundle of fluff and then glared at Brill.

"What do you mean," she demanded. "by scolding my dog?"

"Is it yours?" Brill asked, sternly. "Well, all I've got to say it that people who let dangerous animals parade the streets ready to bite any one that passes, have no regard for the law or—"

Brill was interrupted by a scornful laugh from the girl. "Fifi bite!" she murmured. "How could he?"

She parted the fluff and brought the dog's ridiculous nose to view. Over that nose a tiny muzzle was securely fastened.

"Oh," said Brill foolishly. "I beg your pardon," he added, as he mopped his forehead. Then he hurried on.—Chicago Daily News.

Germany Officers Angry.

An angry controversy is raging in German military circles about a remarkable entertainment given a few days ago at the "Landwehr officers'" casino in the Hardenberg strasse. The kaiser usually attends this entertainment, but this year, owing to the death of the Grand Duke of Luxemburg, he sent his son, Prince Eitel Friedrich.

The chief feature was a "champagne dance." An officer in uniform led in a "lady" and danced with her in a very lively ultra-modern style. The "lady" then disrobed on the stage and turned out to be one of the officers.

Prince Eitel Friedrich applauded this entertainment, but some senior officers were highly indignant and complained that the kaiser's uniform was degraded. They were all the angrier because several privates were present as ticket takers, doorkeepers, etc., and these, for the first time in their lives, were seen laughing at the antics of their superiors.

PRESCRIPTION DID THE WORK

Doctor's Advice That at First Seemed Hard-Hearted Effected a Permanent Cure.

Dr. Stephen Smith, who was 89 years old on February 19, is one of New York's distinguished surgeons, and a founder of the first nurses' training school established in this country. He is also the originator of what he calls the "peanut cure" for tuberculosis. He used it with success long before fresh-air sanitariums and sleeping bags had come into vogue.

"I happened to invent the cure in this way," he said. "A rosy-cheeked, wholesome Irish girl brought her sister to my office and asked me what I could do for her. The sister was plain, sickly, and weak, and obviously had bad lungs.

"'What do you do for a living?' I asked the girl with the red cheeks.

"'Tend a corner peanut stand,' she said.

"'And what does your sister do?'

"'Oh, she's too sickly to be outdoors; we don't let her work.'

"'Well,' I said, 'you buy your sister a peanut stand and keep her outdoors. That's the only thing I can recommend.'

"The two girls looked horrified and departed I did not think anything more about the case until two years later, when two big healthy rosy-cheeked girls came to my office. I recognized one as the peanut stand keeper; the other I couldn't place. But she soon introduced herself as my old patient, the sickly sister of my rosy-cheeked visitor

"'And what have you been doing to yourself?' I asked.

"'Keeping a peanut stand,' she said."

HAS A NEWSPAPER OF 1773

St. Paul Man Owner of Publication in Which George Washington Was an Advertiser.

A newspaper dated Friday, August 20 1773, has come into the possession of Edward Gerving, says the St Paul Pioneer Press. It is a copy of the first issue of the Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser. It has not yet been submitted to an archaeologist to determine its authenticity, but it looks the part with its queer old fashioned type and its decayed yellow paper which has to be handled with care lest it crumble.

Mr. Gerving lives at the Marlowe apartments. An elderly woman formerly lived there with her son The woman died and the son moved to other parts leaving a lot of old magazines piled in a corner of the apartment. These the janitor turned over to Mr. Gerving and in the pages of an old copy of the Youth's Companion he found the ancient newspaper.

The paper contains an interesting advertisement signed by one George Washington, a real estate operator living at Mount Vernon, who had twenty thousand acres of fine land, the patents to which he was anxious to dispose of.

One subscriber announces that a reward will be paid for a "runaway negro, Prince, a tall, slim fellow, has several hacks on his forehead, was taken up at Susquehanna Ferry but made his escape and is often seen around the neighborhood. Whoever secures him in jail so that the owner may get him again shall have five pounds reward."

Good Reason.

Daniel Kennedy, New York's famous auctioneer, was talking about a collection of French snuffboxes that had sold too low.

"You ask why the owner sold them so low?" said Mr. Kennedy. "Well, he sold them low because he had to. Poverty compelled him.

"It is like the story of the little boys with the green ribbon in their coats. The school teacher interrogated these little boys to see what their knowledge of Irish history amounted to.

"'Patrick,' she began, 'why are you wearing a green ribbon today?'

"'Because it's the anniversary of the great and good St. Patrick, ma'am'

"'Very well. And you, Michael, why are you wearing a green ribbon?'

"'Because St. Patrick is Ireland's patron saint, ma'am, and green is Ireland's color.'

"'Good! And now, Solomon Eckharstein, tell us why you in your turn are wearing a green ribbon.'

"'Because, ma'am, Pat and Mike and Denny said they'd pu'st me snoot if I didn't.'"

New Science.

"What do these imps do?" asks the new arrival of Satan.

"They go to the world and tempt people."

"Do they always induce the people to yield to the temptation?"

"Oh, no. Not once in 100 times. But that is as much as I expect."

"My dear sir, your place is run on a most old-fashioned system, indeed! Here, look over this volume. 'Efficiency in Business.' It shows you how to get 100 per cent. results."

Well-Chosen Words.

The Rev. R. J. Campbell, at a farewell luncheon in New York, said of a famous bishop who had married a tremendously rich widow:

"I suppose he proposed to her in appropriate and well-chosen terms. I suppose he said:

"'Dear madam, will you exchange the widow's mite for the miter?'"

'THE HOUR OF TWELVE' PLEASED PATRONS

"The Hour of Twelve," the attraction at the Star theatre for the first part of the week is a very pretty four act comedy drama, being a pretty story of hardships, trials and privations, a delicate thread of love running throughout interminiged with the crosses and re-crosses of villainy and intrigue sufficient to retain deep interest from start to finish. There is enough German and Irish about the play to keep one in good humor and the play runs smoothly throughout. The attendance was good, and every one seemed pleased. Will F. McNulty takes the Dutch part, Billy Cunningham the Irish, J. G. McFarlane is the villain and Miss Annie Pomery as Annie Barns with little Naomi Keller as Mother and child won great favor. Little Miss Keller is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. McShaffrey and this being her first stage appearance she did very nicely. "The Hour of Twelve," is Mr. McNulty's own production and it is one of the best in his repertoire. "The Convict's Daughter" will be the bill for the latter part of the week, and there will be a matinee on Thursday afternoon. Don't miss it.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Ozzie" Scott played a nice game in middle for the Christians, fielding the drives hit to him clean and quick and cutting off chances for extra bases on two or three different occasions.

Something is woefully lacking somewhere on the Christian team. There are the players and there is the ambition but there is a lack of team work and practice.

Clint Manown registered two pretty triples, one going clear to the bank in right centre and the other being good for almost a home run and two bats.

Luther Bolig made his 1912 debut last night and he pitched a classy game, allowing but 3 scattered hits and not walking a batsman although he hit one.

Someone forgot to take up a collection last evening and the water boy and ball chaser did receive their regular envelope.

The Decoration Day attraction will be the Lutherans and Catholics and a good holiday contest should be the result.

OLYMPIC

Begining yesterday, Monday, the Olympic theatre inaugurated a new summer schedule for moving pictures and hereafter each day will have a special program. So be on hand each day so as not to miss any of the good ones.

Wednesday and Thursday we'll have the most interesting things of the week.

Today we produce in three reels, an exceptionally fine Italian picture, "Talcone Rosso," and to not see it would be missing one of the finest of the year.

Wednesday, "Cyrano of Bergerac" one of the greatest French dramas yet made and produced in the largest theatres of the country. It was played last winter in the Nixon theatre, Pittsburgh.

"Attacked by a Lion," one of the most thrilling and sensational pictures ever put out will be shown one evening this week. It's one you'll never forget, so be there every evening so you'll be sure to see it.

BIJOU

Several fine pictures may be seen today at the Bijou. The big feature reel, "A Mexican Romance" is a scenic wonder acted by the world's greatest artists. Also showing two other good pictures, "A Hogan's Alley Comedy" and "The Ranch Girls on a Rampage." Special feature Friday, "Honor and the Sword." Watch for it. 1t

Eldora Defeats Monon

The Union team of Eldora played their first game on Saturday at Eldora with the strong Y. M C A. team of Monongahela and won by a score of 5-4. Carney pitched a strong game for the Eldora boys and was well supported. Findlay of Monongahela also pitched a good game but luck was against him. The hitting of the Walsh brothers was the feature for the Eldora boys. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	R	H	E
Eldora Union	0	0	4	0	1	5	8	2
Monongahela	0	4	0	0	0	4	3	3
